Every School Ever

Making learning fun

Sites children want.

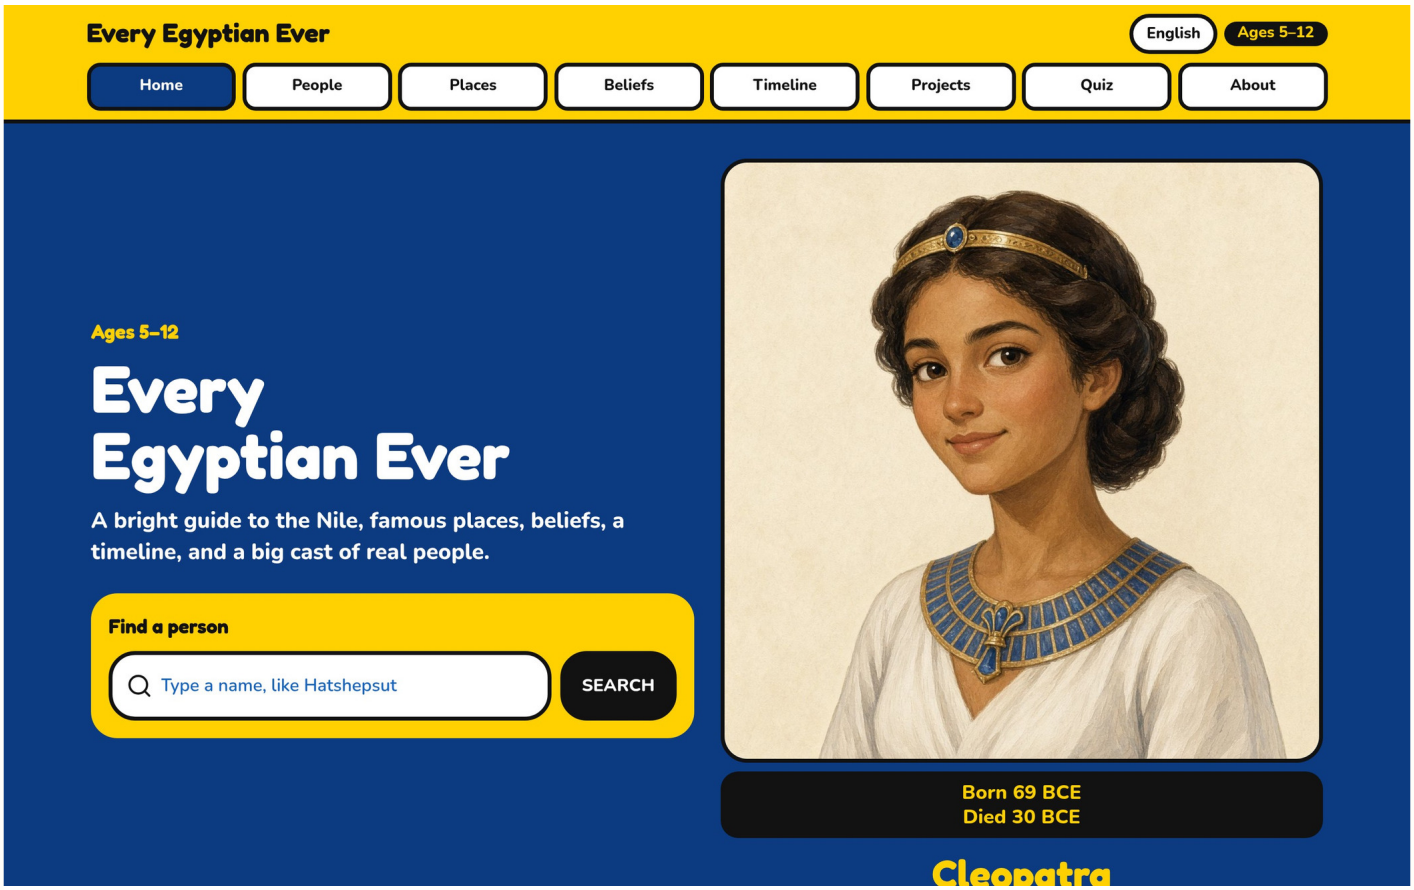

Resources teachers need.

Every School Ever is a collection of informative websites built intuitively to make learning fun. There are twenty-five topics, from ancient Egypt and Greece to space, science, sport, and the Americas.

Each site is the same shape, so a class that knows one can walk into the next. Children get short pages, big buttons, and real people and places. Teachers get quizzes, projects, and offline packs that are already written.

One key opens the sites on the plan. A school or business plan covers every website and is held by the organisation, not by one teacher.

ABOUT US

Made for active learning

Every School Ever is a collection of informative websites built intuitively to make learning fun.

The resources are there to save hours of preparation. Children get short pages, big buttons, and real people and places — so the learning is something they can enjoy, not a worksheet to endure.

Once a class knows one site, the next topic feels familiar: a search, a timeline, a quiz, and a project waiting.

Every site has the same doors. Children look up a person, visit a place, read a short page, take a quiz, and make a project. Offline packs sit ready for a lesson with no internet.

A teacher does not have to build the lesson. Open the site, put it on the board, or send the class to one person or one place. The pages are already written.

“An incredible time-saving resource for teachers that students absolutely love!”

Miss Perez, TEFL English Teacher, Madrid

KEEPING CHILDREN SAFE

Keeping children safe in education 2026 asks schools which sites children will open, and who they will meet there. These are written pages for ages 5 to 12. A child does not make an account, post, or message anyone. There is no advertising. The school still filters and monitors its own network.

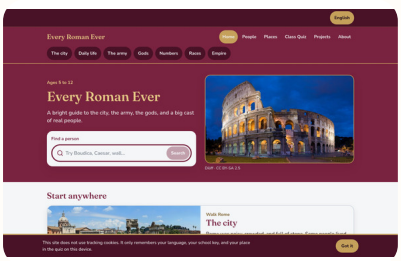

Curriculum, not clutter

Each site stays on one topic: Egypt, Rome, Scotland, space, sport, trains, faiths, artists, and the rest of the shelf.

Ready to teach from

Projects and quizzes are already on the page. Put a site on the board, or send a class to a person, place, or fact.

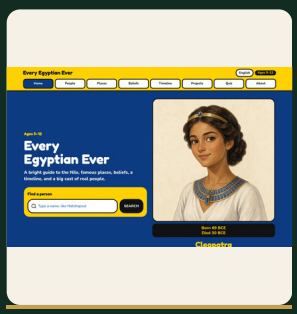

A person, not a portal

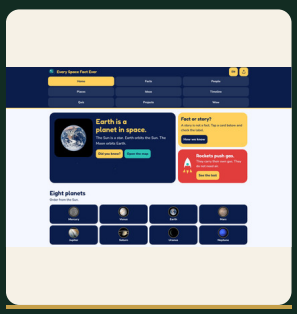

Schools work with us directly. Tell sales the year groups and topics, and we will talk about how the sites can fit.

Twenty-five sites. One familiar way in.

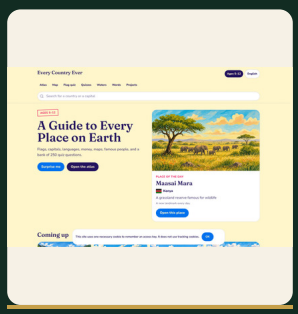

History, science, sport, and culture. Ages 5–12. The same buttons on every site.
